Mea Domina.

My lady seems of Ivory. Forehead, straight nose, and cheeks that Hollow'd a little mournfully.

Beata men Dominal

Her forehead, overshadow'd much By bows of hair, has a wave such As God was good to make for me. Beata mea Dominal

Beneath her brows the lids fall slow, The lashes a clear shadow throw Where I would wish my lips to be. Beata mea Dominal

Her great eyes, stunding far apart, Draw up some memory from her heart, And gaze out very mournfully. Beata mea Dominal

Her full lips being made to kiss,
Curl'd up and pensive each one is;
This makes me faint to stand and see,
Beata mea Domina!

1TTLE inmate, full of mirth.
Chirping on my kitchen hearth,
Wheresoe'er be thine abode
Always harbinger of good, Pay me for thy warm retreat With a song more soft and sweet; In return thou shalt receive Such a strain as I can give.

With what vermin else infest Every dish, and spoil the best; Frisking thus before the fire, Thou hast all thy heart's desire.

Though in voice and shape they be Formed as if akin to thee, Thou surpassest, happier far, Happiest grasshoppers that are; Theirs is but a summer's song.— Thine endures the winter long, Unimpaired and shrill and clear. Melody throughout the year.

Far beyond the date of man. Wretched man, whose years are spent In repining discontent, Lives not, aged though he be, Half a span, compared with thee.

pices of the auxiliary to the Retreat for the Sick. A large audience greeted the rise of the curtain and the fifty-seven children taking part were well repaid for their work by the hearty applause. The crowning of the Queen of May, im-personated by Miss Alice Carlton, took up the first half of the programme. Her attendants in beautiful and gorgeous cos-tumes, carried off their parts without a hitch. Little Masters Raymond Carcin, as the herald, and Stuart Billups, as crown-bearer, were the observed of all observers.

rvers. e most beautiful part of the enter

The most beautiful part of the entertainment was the maypole dance by twenty girls, the yellow and purple ribbons being entwined round the "mystic tree" to the biending of the childish voices in the "Spring Song."

The rainbow drill, with little Miss Genevieve Leach as Rainbow, was not more good to look at than the flag-drill which followed and closed the programme.

The entire performance will be repeated this afternoon at half-past four o'clock.

HOWITZERS' GUNS.

Carriages Have Now Come and Ordinance Officer Needed.

The new equipment of the Howitzers and their enlarged and improved quarters has aroused much interest in their organization, which is one of the oldest in the State, and on Tuesday night they elected nine new men. There are now seven other applications before the investigation committee, and there is every indication that before the end of the year the organization will have the re-gular army strength of 120 men to the Captain Myers has written to the army headquarters in Washington asking that an ordnance officer be seat lown to put together the new guns, which the War Department recently donated to the Howitzers.

War Department recently donated to the Howitzers.

As soon as possible after all the new equipment is in place the Howitzers are arranging to celebrate the securing of the guns with a smoker and banquet. Among the distinguished guests to be invited for this occasion are General Oliver, first assistant secretary of War; General Crozier, chief of the ordance department, and Schators Daniel and Martin. There will also be a number of invited guests from this city, making a total attendance, probably of about five hundred.

Another Story on the Diminutive One at Eighth and Broad.

One at Eighth and Broad.

The diminutive sky-scraper or "flatiron building," which stands at the northwest corner of Broad and Eighth Streets, has attracted a great deal of attention, owing to the fact that it is altogether unique.

It will be all the more so in a few days, as carpenters are now at work putting on another story. The odd little building has a frontage of about five feet, and, taking its width into consideration, it is as tall by comparison as the American Bank building.

The building is occupied by Mr. Spitzer as a cleaning and pressing establishment As soon as the carpenters complete the third story, this will be painted to conform to the rest of the building.

At Hand.

All of the Henrico county schools are afranging for their commencement exercises for the end of this week or the beginning of next week. Most of the rural schools will celebrate the closing day simply with a piente, which, however, is very enjoyable to the youngsters. The commencement at Barton Heights school will take place on to-morrow night in the Barton Heights Baptist Church, where the commencement address will be delivered by Professor F. C. Woodward, professor of English and literature in the Woman's College. The diplomas and medals will be delivered by Mr. John Stewart Bryan, one of the members of the board. At Hand.

Dumbarton school will celebrate its closing day with a pienic at Young's Fond, where all the pupils will gather for an all-day outing. Fulton Hill school will have its pienic on Friday at Forest Hill Park, Yellow Tavern school, will hold its commencement exercises on Monday night.

Fancy Skating Pleases Many.

Fancy Skating Pleases Many.

No race, contest nor act has ever attorded more pleasure or driven larger audiences in the big rink at the Revervoir than the skading act of the powers Brothers, of New York. The 'e vor skatterial artists started Monday night with only a fair-sized audience, and have steadily increased their audiences every afterneon and evening since. At each performance new skating features are exhibited, and old skaters have returned to the rink to practice a few of the many new features that they have matched with so much interest. To all observers every turn done by the Powers Brothers seems just as easy as falling off a log. When experienced skaters try some of these stunis they find out differently.

John P. Brent, Richmond's favorite fancy grater and racer, is one of the most assidious watchers the Powers Brothers have. Brent never misses a performance and he can been seen every day practicing some of the new stunis.
